

Northeastern gets $500k nursing grant

Northeastern University has received a $500,000 grant to fund nurse-training programs, the university said Wednesday.

Northeastern is partnering with the Cambridge Health Alliance to fund education and credentialing programs for nurses and other health professionals as part of the grant. The money is being provided by the Workforce Competitiveness Trust Fund.

The funding is for over a three-year period for helping registered nurses attain a bachelor's degree in the field.
