“Webinar Wednesdays” for Faculty and Staff

This six-part lunchtime series focuses on ways to better serve our international student population. These quick webinars aim to internationalize our institution through concrete skill building and advancing intercultural competencies.

To register: http://nuonline.adobeconnect.com/global/event/registration.html
Contact: globalss@neu.edu

9 Tips for Working with International Students
January 29th, 12:15pm – 12:45pm
This workshop can benefit anyone working with or teaching international students. These tips cover techniques and suggestions and give examples from real student interactions.

Supporting Chinese students on Campus
February 26th, 12:15pm – 12:45pm
Are you interested in how to better support Chinese students? This workshop will cover the different stages of culture shock and address the cultural and educational challenges that Chinese students face in the U.S.

Pronunciation of Chinese Names
March 26th, 12:15pm – 12:45pm
Baffled by the pronunciation of Chinese names? This workshop can help! The Chinese use a phonetic system called pinyin; join us to learn more.

Advising International Students
April 30th, 12:15pm – 12:45pm
This presentation synthesizes best practices of International Student Advisors—from Northeastern and beyond—for faculty members to incorporate into their advising sessions and interactions with international students.

Preparing International Students to Succeed
May 28th, 12:15pm – 12:45pm
Before international students even arrive on ground in Boston, there are ways we can support students in the transition process pre-arrival. This workshop will review the international student lifecycle and key aspects to consider when helping support international students preparing to succeed at an American university.

Supporting International Graduate & Professional Students
June 25th, 12:15pm – 12:45pm
This workshop explores the role culture plays in adjustment, challenges international students face, and discussions for possible programming and instructional solutions to the challenges.

Workshop topics are subject to change depending on availability of presenter